Pom Poms For Peace

Join the 'Pom Poms for Peace' movement – a creative initiative harnessing the power of craft to foster community and spark conversations on social justice. Follow these simple steps to create your own symbol of peace and participate in a global dialogue for change.

What you Need

1 Wrap The Wool

Wrap the Wool around the cardboard. If working with young children, placing 2-3 fibres together can make the process quicker. Be sure to leave a gap at each side.

The more wool you use, the thicker and fluffier your pompom.

2 Tie It in a knot

Cut a small length of wool, and tie around the middle of the wrapped wool, using that gap. Pull tight! Tie it again on the other side for extra security. Young children may need help making these knots extra tight.

3 Scissor Time

Using sharp scissors cut along the top and bottom edge where the wool is looped. Once you've cut along the edge, slide the pompom from the cardboard. Your pompom may look a little floppy so it's a good idea to give it a haircut.
